

ISBN: 978-93-95522-03-8
 Binding: Hardbound
 Pages: 226
 Year: 2023
 Price: Rs 995

Peeking at Peking China, India and The World

R Srinivasan

1962 was a watershed moment in Sino-Indian Relations. Did China's unilateral ceasefire and withdrawal result from its internal political compulsions? Is China using India to steady its political boat in internal turbulent weather? Did China agree to withdraw from Galwan merely due to India's offensive posture? How did China go about building its aircraft carriers and how does it use artificial islands and villages to surreptitiously lay claim to sovereignty? How will the cashless trap that China is casting engulf the world? These and many such questions are critically looked at in the essays contained in this book. Stepping aside from the contemporary outlook and adopting a historical and methodical approach, the essays provide perspectives that are critical to understanding the Dragon, its compulsions, aspirations and outreach. Each essay relies on source material that render the analysis and argument substantial value, enabling a comprehensive appreciation of Chinese intent.

Dr R Srinivasan is the Founder-Director of Praghna Centre for Research, a Coimbatore-based LLP that promotes scientific research among students and emerging scholars in social sciences. He is also the Publisher cum Editor-in-Chief of Electronic Journal of Social and Strategic Studies, an online Open Access research journal. He holds a PhD in Political Sociology and is an internationally published author of over a dozen book chapters and over 30 research articles. Apart from his academic and research activities, he writes and blogs on religion, philosophy, international events, leadership and management. He retired as a Group Captain from Indian Air Force after 33 years of service. He was conferred the Visisht Seva Medal by Hon'ble President of India for Distinguished Service of a high order, in 2012.

Contents

1. China's Internal Political Dynamics and its Impact on India
2. China's Unilateral Withdrawal in 1962: Did China Have an Internal Compulsion?
3. Flipside View of Sino-Indian Troop Disengagement: Victory or Lesson?
4. Resolving Indo-Pak and Sino-Indian Border Disputes: Considerations and Prospects
5. Implications of Recent Border Dispute between India and China Through the lens of a Military Personnel
6. Bridges, Villages and Sovereign Claims: Playing the Chinese Way
7. Fencing the Dragon Out: Cyber Security Challenges for India
8. Pawns in a Board Game: China, India and Prisoners of War
9. Postcolonial Approach to Understanding China's Quest for Maritime Power
10. From Macau, with Love: The Story of Chinese Aircraft Carrier
11. Regime Change in Pakistan and Chinese BRI Dream
12. Between the Devil and the Deep Sea: China's Options in Afghanistan
13. Sino-Australian Relations in the QUAD Era: Exploring the Challenges
14. QUAD v. RCEP: A Geo-economic Appraisal
15. RECP and Emerging Trends in the Indo-Pacific
16. Dragon Casts a Cashless Trap: Society, Geo-economics and Geopolitics
17. Large Number of Small Things: Lessons from Nagorno-Karabakh in Military Strategy
18. Watch What You Speak: Think Tanks and Strategic Discourses
19. Theatre Commands: Understanding its Concepts and Implications
20. Integrated Infrastructure Planning in Strategic Calculus

for orders

Email: info@howacademics.com

Contact: +91 98110264449, 999953412